DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fleming (US 4,301,776), as best understood.

Fleming discloses a motion converting mechanism comprising a reciprocating member (12) and a rotating member (21); said reciprocating member (12) comprising at least two roller cam followers (25) in substantially constant distance from each other; said rotating member (21) comprising a cam (23); for each rotation of the cam (23) only one reciprocation of the reciprocating member (12) takes place; characterized in that: the centers of the roller cam followers follow curves (see Fig 1).

Fleming does not disclose the formula: $E(f+f_1) = \sqrt{(a+Y(f))^2 + d^2}$, with $f_1 = \arctan((a+Y(f))/d)$, where f is the rotation angle of the cam, d is half the distance between the axes of reciprocation of the centers of the roller cam followers and a is a constant; while $Y(f) + Y(f+\pi) = \text{constant}$ for any f .

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to discover the optimum value of eccentricity, since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233.

Art Unit: 3656

Response to Arguments

Some further comments regarding the applicant's remarks are deemed appropriate.

Claims 1, 2, and 4-7 have been canceled by the amendment filed January 5, 2010. This amendment leaves claim 3, a dependent claim, pending in the application. It is unclear what the applicant meant to do with respect to the claims, but having no independent claim is improper.

The rejection above is done as best understood. Applicant has failed to argue why the Fleming reference fails to meet the limitations of the claims, and instead argues the advantages and disadvantages of the applicant's invention.

Applicant's remarks have been accorded due consideration, however, they are not deemed fully persuasive.

Conclusion

3. This action is a final rejection and is intended to close the prosecution of this application. Applicant's reply under 37 CFR 1.113 to this action is limited either to an appeal to the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences or to an amendment complying with the requirements set forth below.

If applicant should desire to appeal any rejection made by the examiner, a Notice of Appeal must be filed within the period for reply identifying the rejected claim or claims appealed. The Notice of Appeal must be accompanied by the required appeal fee of $500.00.

If applicant should desire to file an amendment, entry of a proposed amendment after final rejection cannot be made as a matter of right unless it merely cancels claims or complies with a formal requirement made earlier. Amendments touching the merits of the application which otherwise might not be proper may be admitted upon a showing a good and sufficient reasons why they are necessary and why they were not presented earlier.

A reply under 37 CFR 1.113 to a final rejection must include the appeal from, or cancellation of, each rejected claim. The filing of an amendment after final rejection, whether or not it is entered, does not stop the running of the statutory period for reply to the final rejection unless the examiner holds the claims to be in condition for allowance. Accordingly, if a Notice of Appeal has not been filed properly within the period for reply, or any extension of this period obtained under either 37 CFR 1.136(a) or (b), the application will become abandoned.
